

The Anthropocene Project is a culmination of all the conversations we have ever had about art's capacity to provoke change, as well as the merits and drawbacks of doing this experientially: to not preach, harangue or blame, but to witness, and in that witnessing, try to shift consciousness.

— Jennifer Baichwal

